MRS. A. W. HICKLIN,
PHYSICIAN AND ELECTRICIAN,
No. 96 Front street, upstairs, one door north of Kingsley's Brick Building.

MRS. HICKLIN WILL CURE ALL ACUTE NERvous and Chronic Diseases with Electricity and Water, without the use of medicine, and will apply the Electricity according to Prof. W. R. Wells' theory. Mrs. H. has been engaged in the practice of medicine, but has done away entirely with its use, believing that ELECTRICITY IS THE ONLY SAFE REMEDIAL AGENT in the Cure of Diseases. Medical men generally suppose that there are many causes for the various diseases in existence, and that one disease may have various causes to produce it. We contend that there is but one great cause for all disease, and this is a loss of balance of the two sources of Electricity in the part or parts diseased.

We apply the current with sponge and never shock the patient, but would have it borne in mind that we have one of Prof. Wells' Double-Current Electro-Galvanic Batteries, and can purify the Blood, remove mercury from, build up and give tone to the system. We can

When the sleeping part of society say they have tried all means, [illegible] need not feel to further any [illegible] but give it a trial. We would not ask your physician if it will do you any good, for he knows nothing about the use and practice of one of Prof. Wells' batteries.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, APRIL 19, 1865.

PROCLAMATION BY THE GOVERNOR.

Whereas it is fitting that a bereaved and afflicted people should bow in humble resignation to [illegible] judgment; Therefore, to pay proper respect to the memory of the many exalted virtues of our late Chief Magistrate, Abraham Lincoln, so sadly and wickedly stricken down at the Capital, and to seek consolation and guidance in the hour of our calamity, I, Addison C. Gibbs, Governor of the State of Oregon, do recommend that Thursday, the 27th inst., be observed throughout the State in a manner expressive of the deep sense of gloom and sorrow which overshadows the Nation.

[L. S.] In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State to be affixed this 18th day of April, A. D. 1865.

ADDISON C. GIBBS.

By the Governor,
SAMUEL E. MAY, Secretary of State.

The Funeral Ceremonies.

Late last evening a telegraphic dispatch was received which informed us that the funeral of the late President would take place in Washington to-day. The dispatch was not received in time to enable our people to make any arrangement for the sad occasion, or even to receive notice that the funeral would occur so soon. The Governor has issued a proclamation setting apart Thursday, the 27th day of April, as a day which it is recommended to the people to appropriately observe.

It is hoped that the whole State will join in rendering this tribute of respect to the memory of one whose loss the Nation so keenly feels. Arrangements will be made in this city to observe in a suitable manner, the day indicated by the Governor in his proclamation.

In view of the fact that the funeral is to take place in Washington to-day at 12 o'clock, we suggest to our citizens, that they close their business houses at as early an hour as possible this morning. We hope also, that if notice can be given, there will be appropriate services in the several churches, in compliance with the recommendation of the Acting Secretary of State.

Copperheadism and its Consequences.

In this hour of national affliction, we have no desire to reflect unnecessarily upon the conduct of any men or of any party; we would not arouse the passions of the people to vengeance; or awake in the Nation a prejudice that could assume that form; but the hour has its lesson, for it is a sequel to the past. Southern rebellion would have been comparatively powerless, had it not counted on allies north; so also Northern Democracy, during the past four years, would have been aimless, had its tendencies not been to assist rebellion, and its hopes not been based upon a future alliance with the South, dependent upon its success, partially at least, when, as of old, under the name of Democracy, spoils should be won and shared. We do not aim to scandalize the past epoch of Democracy by the comparison; we refer but to the name and the abuse that may be made of it.

To the copperheads of the North, who under the Woods, Voorhies and Vallandigham have pretended democracy while they have virtually practiced treason, a heavy account is to be charged. They have strengthened it, by giving it assurance, never to be fulfilled, of disaffection North; they have persistently aided it by speeches and through the press, advocating a doctrine of peace, tantamount to a submission to Southern dictation and acquiescence in the perpetuation of slavery. We may as well sum up a few items of the account which we have charged against them as accomplices, and leave the deluded adherents to the name Democracy, who have followed them thus far blindly, to judge if they can still trust themselves to such unholy guidance. The South would never have seceded, but for the assurances given of sympathy from such Northern Democrats as Joe Lane, their own chosen candidate for the Vice Presidency, who declared that their "rights" should only be assailed when his "dead body" was marched over—a threat without fulfilment.

The great impulse and animus of rebellion was derived at the outset from Northern allies of the Southern cause, and as years passed on and the South maintained the conflict, not unequally at times, their successes were claimed by Copperheads as a sign of imbecility of the Administration and made a pretext, upon which they cried for peace; an infamous peace, to be won by an abandonment of a conflict for the right. As a consequence of this war, initiated and prolonged by Norther sympathy with the vilest treason that ever mocked the sunlight with its infamy, came the murderous bands of guerillas who have infested the border States and even carried devastation across the Ohio river; came the several inroads of Southern armies into Maryland and Pennsylvania, came the piracies of corsairs who have strewed the sea with blazing wrecks; came the desolation that has swept upon the South, and the wail of the widows and orphans to be heard from the St. Lawrence to the Gulf, weeping for the dead that fill so many thousand new made graves.

The death, ruin, desolation, debts that has fallen upon this nation during the past four years, is in great part chargeable to the Copperhead Democracy; and lastly, still not the least of the crimes that blot this era, comes the murder of the President, to add one crowning horror to the ghastly record. The party at the North that has spent years in extenuating the crimes of traitors and denouncing the Administration, whose duty and whose effort it was to punish these crimes, has to answer for all these calamities, and to atone for all this infamy. Its sins cry aloud to Heaven, and the honest verdict of the civilized world has sunk it to a depth lower and deeper than the voice of hope shall ever reach. Vallandigham and his ilk are "damned to everlasting fame," and it remains for every man to decide if their record shall be his, or if their fate shall be meted to him.

The sun shall never rise upon the day that shall secure them honor or bring them power. The page that shall tell of them shall speak of infamy, and the pen that writes it, shall couple their names with treason—with Judas and with Arnold. They lack the courage of a soldier—the honor of a man; they had no purpose to fulfil to gratify a greedy lust for ill-gotten power.

Bad Treatment of Sailors.—The courts of San Francisco have been engaged in the trial of the officers of the ship Great Republic, who are revealed to the public eye as men without the least spark of human feeling—literally no heart at all. Another case of brutality on shipboard is recorded, wherein a seaman by the name of William Henry Nash, on the steamer St. Louis, for giving offense to the commander, was ordered in the midst of a storm to "wash the ship's side." Of course he was drowned. The U. S. District Attorney refused to take cognizance of the affair.

Duty on Paper.—By a late act of Congress, the duty on imported paper was reduced from 30 to 15 per centum. The cost of white paper for a long time past has been enormous. This reduction may not materially lessen its market price. Here the difference will probably not be felt at all.

Letter from the Dalles

[illegible] of the steamer [illegible] the wharf [illegible] flags were [illegible] placed at half-mast [illegible] was [illegible] President [illegible] assassin [illegible].

The [illegible] were immediately [illegible] the Nation [illegible] may [illegible] carriage, where [illegible] were given by [illegible] ascended to [illegible] consisted [illegible] playing [illegible] and escorted by firemen in full uniform and other citizens, they all proceeded from the boat through the principal streets of the city, while the anvils kept firing [illegible]. The procession having arrived in front of [illegible] residence [illegible] entered, Newell at the head. What transpired there, your correspondent is unable to state. It is enough, however, for me to add, that this scene was witnessed by over one hundred grief-stricken people who arrived on the boat, with intense indignation and anguish of soul.

When a whole nation is bending under sorrow that is beyond the power of words to express, over the untimely loss of the revered head of the nation, and when every city, town and hamlet and private dwelling was, on receipt of the news of the great public calamity, draped in mourning, at such a time as this, when the [illegible] Dalles city, it is met with waving banners, martial music, firing of cannon and other outward and public demonstrations of rejoicing! Let Mr. Wm. H. Newell and those who participated in this most disgraceful proceeding—made disgraceful by the circumstances with which it was surrounded—forever blush with shame at such conduct, and may the people of Dalles City ever look back with sorrow and humiliation to the day when their city stood as an exception, solitary and alone, among all the cities and towns of the United States, by the conduct of her citizens in the hour of the Nation's deepest sorrow.

It is but just to state that the two men who were firing the anvils, on being informed of the sad news by Mayor [illegible] who came up on the boat, immediately refused to fire another shot, and left the anvils in shame and sorrow. It is but just to add, also, that this proceeding was condemned in severe terms by some of the residents of the place who witnessed it. VINDEX.

P. S.—Half an hour later Newell is said now to be [illegible]. V.

The Memory of Lincoln.

It was understood that last evening at the Methodist Church, the services would be [illegible] and appropriate to the solemn hour in which we live. Professor Powell of the University addressed the large audience assembled, upon the life and character of Lincoln. This tribute was offered to his memory by one who loved him well, and was received with interest by all. The next speaker, by [illegible], was Joseph S. Smith, who dwelt for some time upon the terrible fact that our President had been assassinated and rendered a handsome tribute to his memory. Having differed from him, he still accorded him the credit of having always tried with inflexible purpose to discharge his duty well, as he understood it. Mr. Smith is a peace Democrat, and one of the proprietors of the foulest sheet that opposes the Government in the whole land. He himself, in the canvass last autumn, denounced Mr. Lincoln as an imbecile, a buffoon and a perjured villain, who had often broken his inauguration oath by violations of the Constitution. His vile organ, with his assent, has aligned the most reckless libels upon the Martyr Lincoln, as upon all his supporters; has violated the sanctity and privacy of public and of private life, to lend a contemptible tribute to treason, and now, forsooth, this wily demagogue prates to us of the virtues of Lincoln, surrounded by the emblems of christianity, within the walls of a church. His assertion that he never failed to render this tribute in the past, is false. It is refuted by his acts, his words, his acts; and this last position in which we find him; in which he said many good things and said them well, is a false one which should have been filled by one who could have said them justly. These words reflect the sentiment of the Union men of Salem as I am ready at any time to prove. It only needed that Asahel Bush and John F. Miller had echoed his words to make the mockery complete. I, for one, believe that just such men as these have by false hearted loyalty, hounded on the assassins, and will have to atone the crime.

SAMUEL A. CLARKE.

Salem, O., April 18, 1865.

Our Late President.—On the first of March a select committee from the two houses of Congress visited President Lincoln and formally gave him notice of his re-election. The President's response is given below. Alas! that he who so enjoyed the confidence of the people, and who was so well qualified for the task before him, could not have lived to see the consummation of peace and the restoration of the Union—a result for which he, more than all others, was an instrument in preparing the way. On the occasion referred to, the President spoke as follows:

Having served four years in the depths of a great and yet unequaled national peril, I can view this call to a second term in no wise more flattering to myself than as an expression of the public judgment that I may better finish a difficult work in which I have labored from the first than could any one less severely schooled to the tasks. In this view and with increased reliance on that Almighty Ruler who has so graciously sustained us thus far, and with increased gratitude to the generous people for their continued confidence, I accept the renewed trust with its yet onerous and perplexing duties and responsibilities.

Petroleum in California.—There seems to be a great natural flow of petroleum from springs 25 miles east of Los Angeles, which flow from the ridge near the Santa Ana river, covering it thickly for a distance of about five miles. There are many other springs of the same nature in the vicinity of the town, in the soft "brea" or tar that exudes from which cattle and sheep become easily mired and frequently [illegible]. Another spring is mentioned near San Pedro, on the same shore, that is covered at high tide, while in the hills north of the old mission of San Fernando, there are springs less tarry, and identical with the oil springs of Pennsylvania. There are hundreds of these springs from which oil constantly flows, to the amount in the aggregate, of several hundred gallons daily. This oil has been distilled and used in lamps with success equal to the best kerosene. It is a question how titles are to be acquired to these lands. Some suggest that they can be claimed and worked as the mineral lands are.

Shameful Conduct at the Dalles.—We are pained to record the disgraceful proceedings of the people—or a portion of the people—of the Dalles on the arrival of the boat [illegible] on Monday. It was but natural that they should rejoice over the [illegible] achieved, but surely common decency [illegible] should have been done on some other occasion. When every patriot heart in all the land was distraught with grief, such rejoicings as those our correspondent saw at the Dalles taking place, too, when the sad news reached there, is most reprehensible [illegible] receive the execration which its unfeeling inhumanity deserves.

Tribute to the late President.—A letter from [illegible] speaking feelingly of the nation's calamity, [illegible]:

"The death of our beloved, noble President, is a great [illegible]. But we have [illegible] of our [illegible] integrity [illegible] policy during the terrible period of the four years past. He was only permitted to see as from a mountain top [illegible] but his great heart [illegible] wounds of our [illegible] infamy [illegible] agents [illegible] hellish malignity [illegible]. They have sown the wind, let them reap the whirlwind."

By Overland Telegraph.

[DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

DATES TO APRIL 17.

Seward Informed of the President's Death.

New York, April 16.—A Washington special says: [illegible] Mr. Seward, who had not been told of the affair, [illegible] for the President, asked if it were Mr. Lincoln [illegible]. On Mr. Stanton's [illegible] devolved the unpleasant duty of [illegible]. It was considered best not to keep him in ignorance of the sad event. [illegible] statement of what had transpired, Mr. Seward at once [illegible] comprehend the great events of the night, which, instead of depressing, only strengthened him to his own affairs.

Defences of Mobile Taken.

Cairo, April 16.—Mobile dates to the 9th have been received. The Spanish Fort fell on that day, our forces capturing 800 prisoners, 24 cannon and a quantity of munitions of war. Our loss during the siege, was [illegible]. The rebels admit their loss to be about the same. Fort Blakely was captured by a direct assault, we losing about 1,000 men. The works were carried in splendid style. The entire garrison, 5,000 strong, were captured, including four large batteries of artillery.

The New Orleans Times-Delta of the 11th says: A clerk of the Quartermaster Department arrived direct from Canby, who reports that on Sunday the army was in full march for Mobile, and expected to be in Mobile on Sunday afternoon.

How the Murderers Escaped.

New York, April 17.—The Herald's special from Washington says: After the tragic occurrence, an officer commanding one of the forts east of the city was returning to his command and when between Lincoln Hospital and Camp Barry, he came suddenly upon two men running desperately. These two turned down a large lane in which were four others, all mounted. The officer and others with him gave chase, whereupon the officer was wounded. The party pursued rode rapidly away and escaped with their friends, who [illegible]

The Herald's Winchester correspondent says: The soldiers are greatly incensed at the assassination, but are counselled to calmness.

New York, April 17.—The Commercial's Washington special says: It is feared the assassins escaped to the mountain fastnesses across the Potomac.

Seward Improving.

Washington, April 16, Midnight.—Seward's condition appears improving. He sat up a short time to-day. His son, Fred's, [illegible] still critical.

Extensive Plots Developed.

Washington, April 16.—The extra of the Star has the following: Developments have been made, showing a deep laid plan by part of a gang of conspirators, including members of the order of the Golden Circle, to murder the President and Cabinet. There is reason to believe that Secretary Seward had got intimation from Europe several months since, that something desperate was to transpire in Washington, and most probably referred to the late assassination.

Pickets have encircled the city since Friday night to prevent the escape of parties who murdered the President, and were fired on at several points by concealed parties.

Washington, April 17.—The National says: We can state on the highest authority, that it has been ascertained that a regular conspiracy exists to assassinate every member of the Cabinet, and names seven appointed assassins who are understood and known, and when present investigations are concluded and published, the public will be astonished. From motives of public interest, we refrain from giving the news that has reached us.

A member of the Cabinet remarked one day after the murder of President Lincoln, that the rebels had lost their best friend.

The Intelligencer has the following: It is understood from the best authorities that Mr. Lincoln expressed the utmost confidence in the then Vice President.

Funeral Ceremonies of the Late President.

Washington, April 16.—From the moment the President was shot up to the time of his death he was insensible. The Vice President visited him during the night, but remained only an hour. In fact many of those who rushed to assist in taking care of the President, found their presence prevented rather than gave assistance and therefore left. To-day has been a continuation of the mournful stillness of yesterday. The streets are not crowded. There is not a building either in Georgetown or Washington not draped in mourning. The corpse is laid out in the room of the Executive Mansion in which the President lay. It will be removed to the east room, where the funeral services will take place.

Hunter, Acting Secretary of State, announces that the funeral will take place at 12 o'clock m., on Wednesday, the 19th of April. All of the various religious denominations throughout the country are invited to meet in their respective places of worship at that hour, to solemnize the occasion by appropriate ceremonies.

Johnston Surrenders his Army.

New York, April 17.—Information has just been received that Sherman and Johnson are negotiating for the latter's surrender.

Washington, April 17.—Jos. E. Johnston has surrendered his entire army to Sherman. This virtually closes the war. The rebel general expresses a willingness to submit to the United States authorities. He turned 30,000 men over. Our losses will not exceed 10,000 or 11,000.

Passengers from Richmond assert that the assassination of the President caused great consternation there.

Further Particulars of the Assassination.

New York, April 17.—The Tribune's special Washington dispatch says: Stanton inclines to the belief that Booth is secreted in the city, but his band of accomplices escaped across the Western Bridge. The correspondent says of Booth: On Friday, about 8 o'clock A. M. three strangers shabbily dressed, called on him, but not being in his room they left. They had the general appearance of refugees. About 11 o'clock Booth came in, looking unusually pale, and called for some paper. After writing some time he asked the clerk of the hotel whether this was 1864 or 1865. The clerk then noticed the change in the deportment of Booth. He sealed his letter, put it in his pocket and left.

The following is a copy of a note he sent to Vice President Johnson, last Friday, which was only found on his table yesterday along with other papers: "I do not wish to disturb you, but would be glad to have an interview.

(Signed.) J. WILKES BOOTH."

Johnson was out at the time and did not see the note till yesterday.

It appears by the Herald's account that Major Rathburn was not aware of the presence of the assassin till he heard the report of a pistol, when he immediately turned and seized the man, who then made a thrust with a knife at the Major's breast, who received the blow on the left arm, near the shoulder. The Major only secured a partial hold on the assassin's clothing, which was partly torn away, as he sprang from the box. Thinking it impossible that the man should escape from the crowd below, the Major turned to the President.

The whole time consumed by the assassin, from entering the box till the completing of the bloody deed was not over thirty seconds.

Major Rathburn is rapidly recovering.

Another dispatch says: The murderers probably escaped to Mosby.

The Pirate Beall.—This notorious individual was recently hung by the United States authorities for having been engaged in a scheme to seize several steamers on Lake Ontario and to release the rebel prisoners confined on Johnson's Island. His plan was partly accomplished, when he was captured and tried for the offence and promptly hung.

This crime, in the perpetration of which some of our citizens were killed by Beall, was justified by the rebels as a legitimate act of war. They did their utmost to procure a recognition of this act of murder as a belligerent right. The deed was, however, a gross violation of all the rules of war, and if the demand they made had been conceded, hostilities between this country and Canada would, of necessity have begun. Beall received the punishment his crime deserved, and the summary administration of justice in his case has [illegible] deterred others from attempting similar crimes.

Deputy Collector Mayhew seized about 40,000 cigars at the Dalles, a day or two since, the excise duty not having been paid on them as required by law.

FUNERAL OBSEQUIES OF THE LATE PRESIDENT.—At a meeting of the Common Council, yesterday afternoon, a committee was appointed [illegible] making preparation for the funeral obsequies of our late President at Portland. A committee of five, consisting of Messrs. [illegible], were appointed to act in conjunction with the Mayor and a committee of citizens to make all the necessary arrangements. The committee have issued the notice which appears in another column, calling the citizens together at the Council Chamber this evening at 7½ o'clock, for the purpose of appointing such committee. The occasion is one in which all can and have a deep and mournful interest. The love which our people have for our late and ever lamented President, can now only exhibit itself in a due observance of these last sad rites, and by a proper regard for everything that tends to perpetuate his memory. A very small thing need no exhortation to call them to the part they should take in these sorrowful ceremonies. Their last tributes to the honored dead will be appropriately given.

INSANE ASYLUM.—The quarterly report of the Visiting Surgeon, Dr. Watkins, to the Oregon Asylum for the Insane, at East Portland, given at the Governor's office on the 20th of February last, shows the number of patients to be fifty-three public, and three private, total fifty-six in the institution at that time. The general unfavorable influence exerted over the nervous diseases by the unpleasant seasons, had prevented much improvement in patients during the quarter, and it is noted as being particularly true that all classes of mental character are effected badly by stormy wet weather. The insane are rendered more troublesome, more gloomy, more maniacal at such times, and it seems very reasonable, as persons in good health and in the full possession of their faculties, are subject to depression of spirit under such influence. Dr. Watkins seeing these things, has advised the attending surgeon that he again, as it occurred to keep a daily record of the treatment, condition, etc., of all the inmates of the Asylum, not only for the use of the attending surgeons at this time but for reference hereafter, as by such means an the benefits of experience in each individual case be secured. We make the following extract from the report: "Such records, detailing character and kinds of mental change, and giving the medicinal and hygienic means resorted to for the cure of the patient, will be of use to the visiting or any examining surgeons, who may visit to acquire all the facts of any particular case. It will preserve the mental and medical history of each case, which in after years, may be of great benefit, when the institution shall be entirely under State control. It will also tend to make the treatment more methodical, calling the attention of the attending surgeon to each case daily, and will secure a full history of the institution and its inmates."

LACK OF PROVISIONS IN THE BOISE MINES.—Mr. J. B. Fate, at Harker Brothers in this city, has given us the following extract of a letter received from J. M. Dennett, written at Idaho City under date of March 29th. It presents a truthful state of the case, we have no doubt, as former statements which have been given from time to time, have pointed directly to such a result: "There is to-day three feet of snow in and around this city, and the weather quite cold. We can do no mining for three weeks at least, and by that time, unless they bring us flour from below, we shall be nearly starved out. I think in less than two weeks flour will be worth $70 per hundred. It is $20 per sack of fifty pounds to-day—two dollars higher than it was yesterday. Every one is out—or hourly—its miners have bought barely sufficient last fall to keep them through until the first of April, and now all are on the point of buying, and there is not twenty thousand dollars' worth in the city. The market is overstocked with everything else." Many of the merchants of Idaho City have been anxious to make this matter public here, and if our recommendation could be endorsed by prompt action, we would advise that more supplies be immediately forwarded in that direction, and less to California.

FINE VIEWS.—Our old friend Buchtel, late of Buchtel & Cardwell's Gallery, called upon us last evening and left with the publisher a fine assortment of views, lately taken by him, as the principal Operator at the New Gallery, corner of Morrison and Front streets, where, as usual with him, he may be found dealing in superb portraits of citizens. Lately, he has taken some splendid views of Oregon scenery, which will comprise pictures from Astoria, including the entrance to the Columbia river; the stranded ship Industry, in a series of three photographs, taken from a painting by Brink, on actual observation; and a number of views of Portland during the festival day: views of Oregon City, &c., which make a fine collection for an album or stereoscope. Oregon cannot be beat, the world over, for its scenery—and how many hundreds are there among our citizens who would not gladly be possessed of a few specimens of it—one for their own gratification, or to send to friends in the East. We are pleased at what Mr. Buchtel has done us, and hope he will be well repaid for his energy in procuring such elegant photographs. From his collection we have obtained a book at the Oregon City Woolen Factory, a most magnificent brick edifice, lately built by our enterprising neighbors. We have not visited the City of the Falls since the day the work was completed last year, but feel gratified at being able now to see the fine structure, the best in all Oregon—while sitting in our chair at home—thanks to Buchtel.

FROM HONOLULU.—The bark Cambridge arrived at this port last night, from Honolulu. We are indebted to Captain Brooks for full files of the Advertiser, up to the 25th of February. A cotton plantation and a factory are [illegible] for the Islands. The weather during the month of February had been very cool, thermometer ranging at night from 58° to 68°, with north winds. The sugar interests of the Islands are prospering finely. It is proposed to send Commissioners to China, India and the Indies, to make inquiries concerning future supplies of Coolie laborers, as an experiment. Three American ships were in the port of Honolulu, on the 25th of February.

WYOMING TERRITORY.—The Chicago Times it seems, are no better posted than ourselves on Wyoming. In speaking of the territory in perspective, January 21st, it says: "Wyoming will be made out of Oregon and [illegible], and will embrace an area twice as large as that of the State of Ohio." Can Congress assume to divide a State to create a Territory? Really, we think the time has come when a tract society should be organized to the [illegible] of knowledge at the East concerning matters on "this coast." Did not the editor of the Times know that Oregon had been admitted into the Union? There was he in February, 1859?

MRS. JANE MILLS DAVIS.—This lady is out with her "[illegible] Days View of the Rebellion," an octavo pamphlet, "By the Mountain Queen." The authoress says in a preface: "My object in addressing these few pages is to lay before my readers the different parties that have existed throughout the Pacific coast, since the commencement of the rebellion. I have walked three thousand miles, through different regions, including British Columbia, Idaho, Washoe, Oregon, Northern and Southern California, collecting material for publication. In my travels, I have been lost two days and nights. The Southerners and Northerners nobly came to my assistance. May the South and North unite in peace, harmony and love."

READY-MADE CLOTHING.—Ready-made clothing was never before so cheap in this city as now. It would seem as if all engaged in the business were trying to sell out as cheaply and as quickly as possible. The same is said to be the case in San Francisco, and in explanation of the cause, we see it stated that our ready-made clothing is brought from New York where it is bought on time, and paid for in legal tenders, at their standard when the bills fall due. Hence it is for the benefit of purchasers here to buy up before greenbacks shall have risen to the height anticipated.

CITIZENS' MEETING.—There will be a meeting of the citizens of Portland, at the Common Council Chamber, this evening, to appoint a committee and take such other action as may be deemed necessary for an appropriate observance of the funeral obsequies of President Lincoln. A full attendance is desired.

THE SPECTATOR.—Bivin & Crossett are publishing a handsome daily with the above title, in San Francisco. We have received the 26th and 27th numbers of it.

TO BE CONCLUDED.—The story published on the fourth page this morning will be concluded to-morrow.

IN MEMORIAM.—At the regular meeting of the Portland Circle of the Fenian Brotherhood, held at their hall on Sunday evening, April 7th, 1865, it was unanimously

Resolved, That a committee be appointed to draft resolutions expressive of the sorrow which we, as loyal citizens, entertain for the sudden and unexpected death of Abraham Lincoln, late President of the United States; Therefore, be it

Resolved, That we view with feelings of horror and indignation the act of the assassin, and his aiders and abettors, who have stricken down the Chief Magistrate of this nation; that we denounce the act as one of unparalleled atrocity, deserving the execration of every good citizen; and we hereby declare our determination to have no affiliation with any citizen who is base enough to endorse the murder. And further,

Resolved, That we as Fenians, pledge ourselves to participate in any funeral obsequies that may be held in this city.

S. J. McCORMICK,
W. J. BUTLER, } Committee.
FRANCIS BROWN,

Meeting of the Citizens.

At a Special Session of the Common Council, held this afternoon, it was determined to observe in an appropriate manner, the funeral obsequies of our late President, and a Committee was appointed to act in conjunction with Mayor Failing, and a Committee of the citizens in making preparations for the same. The citizens are requested to meet at the Council Chamber on Wednesday evening at 7½ o'clock for the appointment of such Committee, &c.

JNO. McCRAKEN, Chairman.

Portland, April 18th, 1865.

MEETING OF THE FENIAN BROTHERHOOD.—A special meeting of the F. B. will be held at their hall on Wednesday evening, at 7½ o'clock, to make measures to participate in the funeral ceremonies of Abraham Lincoln, the President of the United States. By order of Committee of safety.

Brandreth's Vegetable Pills.—This medicine, of enduring efficacy, is justly prized as a corrector of all disorders of the stomach and bowels, the common symptoms of which are costiveness, spasms, loss of appetite, sick headache, giddiness, sense of bloating after meals, dizziness of the eyes, drowsiness and cramping in the stomach and bowels. These symptoms being suffered to remain, a torpid state of the liver supervenes, and all the horrors of dyspepsia are experienced. Every function of the frame is to a certain extent prostrated; but a little perseverance in the use of BRANDRETH'S PILLS will soon restore the system from this state of misery. Two or three doses will convince the afflicted of their salutary influence. The stomach will readily regain its strength, a healthy action of the liver will soon take place, and instead of listlessness, heat, pain and jaundiced appearance, activity, strength and renewed health will be the blessed result. Brandreth's Pills are sold at 25 cents a box, enveloped in full directions. Purchase none having less my private Government stamp is on the box. See upon it "B. Brandreth" in white letters.

WISTAR'S BALSAM

WILD CHERRY!

HAS BEEN USED FOR NEARLY

HALF A CENTURY,

WITH THE MOST ASTONISHING SUCCESS IN CURING

Coughs, Colds, Hoarseness, Sore Throat, Influenza, Whooping Cough, Croup, Liver Complaint, Bronchitis, Difficulty of Breathing, Asthma, and every affection of the

THROAT, LUNGS, AND CHEST,

INCLUDING EVEN

CONSUMPTION.

There is scarcely one individual in the community who wholly escapes, during a season, from some one, however slightly developed, of the above symptoms—a neglect of which might lead to the last named disease, most to be dreaded. Consumption, the scourge of the world. The power of [illegible] over this class of complaints is well known, so great is the good it has performed, and so great the popularity it has acquired.

In this preparation besides the virtues of the Cherry, there are commingled with it other ingredients of like value, thus increasing its value ten fold, and forming a Remedy whose power to soothe, to heal, to relieve and to cure disease, exists in no other medicine yet discovered.

The unequalled success that has attended the application of this medicine in all cases of

has induced many physicians of high standing to employ it in their practice, some of whom advise us of the fact under their own signatures. We have space only for the names of a few of these.

The proprietors have letters from all classes of our fellow citizens, from the halls of Congress to the humblest cottage, and even from beyond the seas; for the fame and virtues of WISTAR'S BALSAM have extended to the uttermost bounds of the earth, without any attempt on our part to introduce it beyond the limits of our own country.

TO CALIFORNIANS AND OREGONIANS.

After October 1, 1863, all genuine WISTAR'S BALSAM of WILD CHERRY for the Pacific Coast will be enclosed in a new wrapper which will bear the printed names of both SETH W. FOWLE & CO., Boston, Mass., and JOHN D. PARK, Cincinnati, Ohio, as well as fac simile of the signatures of [illegible] and "I. BUTTS," on the [illegible] & PARK, and "H. WISTAR, M. D."

Cure Your Cold, Save Your Lungs.

NEWELL'S

PULMONARY SYRUP

HAS

CURED THOUSANDS!

And it will Cure You!

"A Cough is generally the effect of a Cold, which has either been improperly treated or entirely neglected. When it proves obstinate there is [illegible]

Always reason to fear the consequences,

as this shows a weak state of the lungs, and is often the forerunner of Consumption.—[Buchanan's Domestic Medicine.]

STOP THAN COUGHING!

Some of you can't, and we pity you. You have tried every remedy but the one destined, by its intrinsic merit, to supercede all similar preparations. It is not surprising you should be reluctant to try something else after the many experiments you have made of trashy compounds foisted on the public as ascertain cures; but

Pulmonary Syrup!

Is really the VERY BEST remedy ever compounded for the cure of Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Asthma, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis and Consumption. Thousands of people in California and Oregon have been already benefited by its surprising curative powers.

WHAT KILLED HIM!

Dr. Hall, in his "Journal of Health," speaking of the death of Washington Irving, asks the above question, and adds: "He might have remained with us for some years to come, had it not been for advice, kindly intended, no doubt, but given in thoughtlessness and reckless ignorance.

He Had a Cold!

Which, by some injudicious prescription, had been converted into asthma." Let me say to Dr. Hall that that "prescription" was not

NEWELL'S PULMONARY SYRUP,

KEEP IT IN THE HOUSE, use it freely, give it to your children upon the slightest indications of a Cold, and you will think and speak of it as all do who have become acquainted with its merits.

From Red Bluff to Yreka, and How I Passed the Night There.

I was in California. In the merry month of May in the year 1856 I started from a small town called Red Bluff, situated on the right bank, and at the head of navigation on the Sacramento river. I had with me a band of eight mules and six men, the purpose of my journey being to reach the camp of the British Boundary Commission at the Dalles, a small town on the Upper Columbia river.

I had determined to find my way through Oregon by an unknown route at that time, by doing this I should reach the Commission at least two months earlier than by taking the mail route to Portland.

I was again and again warned of the risk I ran, not only of losing my mules and men, but my own scalp into the bargain. The country swarmed with hostile Indians, many large streams had to be crossed, the trail was bad, if any, and altogether the prospect was anything but cheering. But I had made up my mind to go, and go I did.

All the annoyances of a start were got over, wild mules were reduced to a state of discipline, and packs adjusted, and men as sober as could be reasonably expected. All went pleasant as a marriage bell until the second day, when my first misfortune happened. I camped on a beautiful bit of ground with grass in abundance, and a stream, clear as crystal and cold as ice, rippled past close to my camp. I placed a guard over my mules, fearing accidents, and choosing as level a spot as I could see, rolled myself up in my blankets, and with my head on my saddle, was soon asleep.

I awoke at sun-up, lit my pipe, and wandered off to see what had become of my mules. I found the trusty guard sound asleep, coiled up under a tree, but not a mule. A sharp admonition, administered through the medium of my toe, soon dispelled his dreams, and awoke him to a lively sense of reality. He rapidly uncoiled, started up, stared vacantly around, and thus relieved his feelings:

"I guess they are gone, Cap'en; every tarnation coon of 'em, right slick back to the Bluff."

I could have pistoled the rascal there and then, but the mules had to be recovered, so I bottled up my wrath, roused up all the sleeping camp, and we started in pursuit of the missing culprits. Three days elapsed before I got them together, but we found them all at last, and again started. I made a long march, crossing Cotton Wood Creek; through Major Raddon's [Redding's?] ranch—one of the finest in California for grazing—struck the Upper Sacramento, and camped about sun-down on a creek called Still-Water.

In the night it came on a deluge of rain that regularly soaked through everything, but it cleared toward morning, and we dried ourselves in the sun as we rode along.

The next three days we traveled through a beautiful park-like country, very lightly timbered, covered with grass, and thick dotted with magnificent ranches (farms); we struck Pit river on the fourth day, crossed it safely, swam the mules, and ferried over the packs.

Our journey for the next twelve miles lay through a narrow, rocky gorge—the trail simply a ledge of rock, barely wide enough for a mule to stand upon. Three hundred feet below rolled the river. The least mistake—a single false step—and over goes mule and pack, or man, as it may be, and you see the last of him. Here I passed a most curious place called the Devil's Pocket: the trail winds along its very edge, and you peer down into an immense hollow kind of basin, that looks as if it had once been a lake, and suddenly dried up. The hills are lofty, sharp pointed, and capped with snow. At the head of this gorge I, for the first time, saw an encampment of digger Indians, and a more famished picture of squalid misery could hardly be looked on. Their wretched, comfortless huts are like large mole-hills; there is a pit sunk in the ground and a frame work of sticks shaped like a large umbrella arched over it; old skins and pieces of bark are thrown over this frame, and the whole is covered with earth. The entrance is a hole, into which they creep like an animal.

Their food consists principally of roots of various kinds, which they dig through the Summer months, and dry in the sun. The field cricket (acheta nigra) they also dry in large quantities, and eat them just as we do shrimps. Bread made from acorn flour is also another important article of diet. They seldom fish or hunt.

Their arms are bows and arrows—their clothing, both male and female, is simply a bit of skin worn like an apron—they are small in stature, thin, squalid, dirty and degraded in appearance—in their habits little better than an ourang outang—certainly the lowest type of savage I have ever seen.

We camped in the evening on a large plain called Big Flat. It was bitterly cold all night, and froze sharply. We got off soon after sun-up, and literally crept along the side of a high range of mountains, densely wooded, and forming one side of the valley of the Sacramento, which has dwindled down into a mere mountain burn. Here I came suddenly on a little colony of miners, engaged at gold washing. I discovered the place was named Dog-town; the entire town consisting of a store, a grog-shop, and a smithy. I paid twenty-five cents (a shilling), for a mere sip of the vilest poison I ever tasted, libelously called "Fine Old Monongahela Whisky." About six miles further, still on the same trail, I came to another gold claim where there were no houses at all, called Portuguese Flat. Passed through some thin timber; camped on a lovely mountain stream. Shot-gun creek, my camp, was on the side of a steep mountain; about a mile further on was another stream, Mary's creek. Camped on this stream was a small pack-train, that had been with stores to some mining station. I heard wolves barking and howling all night, and twice I drove them out of camp with a log fire. The next morning, as I passed the camp of the packers, they were in sad grief. The rascally wolves had pulled down one of their mules, and torn it almost to pieces. I rode up in the wood to see its mangled remains. The ravenous beasts must have fixed on its haunches, and ripped it up while it lived. I was sadly grieved for the poor beast that had come to so untimely an end and for the man who had lost him,—at least £30 worth.

For two or more days I followed up the course of the Sacramento, and crossed it for the last time. Standing at the ford, and looking straight up the valley, the scenery is wild and beautiful in the extreme; on either side sharp pinnacle-like rocks shoot up into all sorts of fantastic shapes, dotted with the sugar-pine, scrub-oak, and manzanita in front; and blocking up, as it were, the end of the valley stood Mount Shasta, at this time covered to its base with snow. This vast mountain is a constant land-mark to the trapper, for it can be seen from an incredible distance, and stands completely isolated in the midst of the Shasta plains. I camped close to the very snow at its base, in a little dell called "Strawberry Valley;" the next day reached the Shasta plains, and camped early in the day.

As I was to bid good-bye to civilization, and abandon all hope of seeing naught but savages after leaving this camp, and being by no means sure of the road, I made up my mind to ride into Yreka and obtain information about the Indians and the state of the trails, and also, what was of equal importance, obtain a relay of provisions; the distance was about thirty miles from my camp to the city.

Yreka city is a small mining town, situated on one side of the great Shasta plains; it stands quite away from law, society and civilization, gold being the magnet that attracts first the miner, and then the various satellites—jackals, would be the more appropriate name—that follow his tracks. I left the mules in charge of my pack-master and started at sun-up, the ride was a most desolate affair over an interminable sandy plain, without even a shrub or flower, much more a tree, to break the monotony. I reached Yreka about ten, and put up at the "What Cheer House," bespoke my bed and ordered breakfast. The keen morning air and a thirty mile ride had made me perfectly ravenous, and I waged alarming havoc on the ham and eggs, fixings and corn dodgers, that, I must say, were admirable. The tea was not a success, being a remarkably mild infusion, very hot, and sweetened with brown sugar, but it washed the solids down, and the finest congou could not have done more.

Thus recuperated, I started off to call on Judge Zeikel, to whom I had a letter of introduction from my agents in San Francisco. It did not take long to find the Judge's quarters, the lanes, streets, and alleys being distinctions without any material difference. The mansion in which his Judgeship "roosted" was a small shanty, with a porch or verandah round it, to keep off the sun when it happened to be hot, and the wet when it rained. I knocked with my knuckles, no reply; tried again, still silence; resorted to the handle of my hunting knife, anything but mildly; that did it. "I rather calculate, stranger, you'd better jist open that door; I ain't agoing to, you bet your boots." I opened it, and walked in. There sat Judge Zeikel in a large arm-chair cleverly balanced on its two hind-legs; no, it was not sitting, or lying, or standing, or lounging—it was a posture compounded of all these positions; his, I mean Judge Zeikel's, legs were extended on a level with his nose, and rested on the square deal table before him. He was smoking an immense cigar, one half of which was stowed away in his cheek, rolled about, and chewed, whilst the other half protended from the corner of his mouth and reached nearly to his eye. A little distance from the Judge was an immense spittoon, like a young sponging bath. He was "whittling" a piece of stick with a pocket-knife, and looked the embodiment of supreme indifference. The chair he occupied, and the table—whose only use, as far as I could see, was to rest his legs upon—[illegible] the entire furniture.

The Judge himself was a [illegible] gave me the [illegible] of length. [illegible] and his legs were long [illegible] He eyed me [illegible] letter [illegible] as he was long in [illegible] to opening it. Having [illegible] of the exterior, he slowly [illegible] yellow envelope, and [illegible] from its contents that he was [illegible].

"I see [illegible] in these parts, Cap'en," said the Judge, without [illegible] the smallest [illegible] shifting his position. [illegible] I was quite a stranger and should be [illegible] if he would give me some information about the trail and the Indians along the route I intend taking.

"Gars and steel traps," [illegible] the Judge. "You'll lose your hair, sure as beaver meat—why thar ain't worse Injuns in all [illegible] than them Klammaths. Jist three months ago come Friday, the darned skunks came right slick upon Dick Livingstone and his gang. You've heerd of Dick, I guess." I said I had not. "Wael, most people has any way, they was jist washing up a full day's work, up Rogue river, when the Klammaths swarmed in jest as thick as mosquitoes in a swamp [illegible] your life, for Dick and his boys wasn't the ones to cave in. But [illegible] them clean down, and took the hair off every man of 'em. The trails [illegible] soft, Mose Hart says, and he's jest in from Rogue's Hollow, what you have to go, that a mule's sure to cave down almost any place."

"Well, Cap'en, may be you're right, making back tracks ain't good, anyway—we are a great head people, we are, and won't pay to be skeerish, anyway. S'pose we go and take a drink, and I'll jist put you [illegible] posted about most things in these diggins."

So we did the city, which did not take very much time to do: we did the stores, where every person from the master to the errand-boy did nothing, save sit on the counter, chew, whittle, and spit. The amount of whittling done in this city is perfectly astonishing: every post supporting the verandahs outside the store and bar rooms was whittled nearly through—some of them in two or three places. We did the bar rooms, and did sundry drinks with divers people. I purchased provisions: hired an Indian trapper to take me as far as the Klammath Lake: took leave of the Judge, who was not half so bad a fellow when you understood him; and retired to my inn, determined to enjoy the luxury of a bed and a long night in it, having slept on the ground since leaving Red Bluff; and if the Judge was right about the Red skins, the chances were considerably against my ever stretching my limbs on another. So, to make the most of it, for a start at sun up and a long ride, added to a fagging day, had pretty well tired me, I retired very early and turned in. It really was a lovely bed, just like bathing in feathers. I stretched out my limbs until they fairly cracked again, and rolled in enjoyment. My thoughts were soon wandering, and visions of home, mixed up with mules falling over precipices, battles with Indians, an ugly feeling round the top of my head, judges, drinks, rowdies, all jumbled together in a ghostly medley, floated off in misty indistinctness, and I subsided into the land of dreams.

A Truly Great Man. The following extract from a private letter of Gen. Sherman to an old friend, who was a highly distinguished soldier of Philadelphia, shows the truly noble character of one of the great Generals that is now leading on our armies to their final victory:

Colonel Ewing arrived to-day, and bore me many kind tokens from the North, but none gave me more satisfaction than to know that you watched with interest my efforts in the National cause. I do not think a human being could feel more kindly toward an enemy than I do to the people of the South, and I only pray that I may live to see the day when they and their children will thank me as one who labored to secure and maintain a Government worthy the land we have inherited, and strong enough to secure our children the peace and security denied us. Judging from the press, the world magnifies my deeds above their true value, and I fear the future may not realize its judgment. But, wherever fate may befall me, I know that you will be a generous and charitable critic, and will encourage one who only hopes in this struggle to do a man's share.

With great respect, your friend and admirer,

W. T. SHERMAN, Major-General.

Amendatory of the Pacific Railroad Act.—The Act amendatory of the Pacific Railroad Act has just past both Houses of Congress. Harlan moved to strike out the clause ratifying the assignment of the Central Pacific to the Western Pacific Railroad Company, but his motion did not prevail. The bill as passed allows the Central Pacific and the Western Pacific Railroad Companies of California, the Union Pacific, and all other railroad companies provided for in the Pacific Railroad Act of July, 1861, to issue their six per cent. thirty year bonds, interest payable in lawful money, upon their separate roads. The companies may issue, respectively, their bonds to the extent of one hundred miles in advance of a continuous complete line from Sacramento. The bill ratifies the assignment made by the Central Pacific Company, of California, to the Western Pacific Company, of that State, of the right to construct all that portion of said road and telegraph from the City of San Jose to the City of Sacramento, with all the privileges and benefits of the Western Company of the several acts of Congress relating thereto, provided the Western Pacific Company construct the first twenty miles of their road in one year from the first of July, 1865, and the entire road from San Jose to Sacramento, connecting at the latter point with the said Central Pacific road, within four years thereafter.—Cor. Sac. Union.

A "Scene" in a California Court of Justice.—The Clear Lake Times says:

D. J. McCarthy, was tried in the County Court of Lake county, a short time ago, on a charge of whipping his wife. A large crowd was in attendance, the trial producing some excitement. A point of law was raised by the attorney for the defense as to the admissibility of evidence offered by the District Attorney, Judge J. H. Thompson, and the Court ordered the attorney to produce his authority to sustain his position. The attorney being rather slow in finding the law in point, the Court, just as the attorney was rising to read the law, ruled that the evidence was not admissible.

"The deuce you do," exclaimed the District Attorney; "I'll read you the law, and bet you a thousand dollars I am right."

"I'll send you to jail for twenty-four hours for contempt of Court," cried the Judge.

"Go send to jail and be d——d," said the District Attorney, shaking his fist in a threatening manner; "I know my rights, and intend to maintain them."

The Judge then proclaimed: "Sheriff Crigler!—Crigler. Sheriff—take Judge Thompson to jail, and adjourn court for twenty-four hours."

Crigler advanced to obey the order, but seeing the District Attorney in a fighting "posish," at the same time bellowing out so that he could be heard in all parts of the town that neither Crigler nor any other man should take him to jail, he called for a commitment, and while this was being prepared, mutual apologies were being made by the Court and the District Attorney, and the order was revoked. The trial then proceeded, resulting in the acquittal of the defendant.

THE WORLD RENOWNED

SINGER SEWING MACHINES!

MANUFACTORY:

162, 184, 186, 188, 190 and 194 Mott street, New York.

Motto—"The Singer Sewing Machines are the only Machines that can Sew all kinds of Cloth, and with all kinds of Thread."

Singer's Letter A Family Machine is the best and cheapest Machine in the world for Family Sewing. There is no doubt as to the quality of our Machines for manufacturing purposes, but it is only of late that the public began to learn that the essential elements of a Machine best adapted to the heaviest work, would also be the elements to be embodied in a Family Machine.

We would ask for our Letter A Machines the attention of Vest Makers and Dress Makers, and all those who want Machines for Light Manufacturing Purposes. They embody the principles of the Manufacturing Machines, making, like them, the interlocked stitch, and are destined to be as celebrated for FAMILY SEWING and Light Manufacturing purposes, as our Manufacturing Machines are for manufacturing purposes in general.

FAMILY SEWING MACHINES are valuable in proportion to the number of things they can do well. See what ours can do before making a purchase.

All persons requiring information about Sewing Machines, their sizes, prices, working capacities, and the best method of purchasing, can obtain it by sending for a copy of the SINGER MANUFACTURING COMPANY'S Illustrated Pamphlet, which is entirely devoted to the subject. It will be sent gratis.

LILLIE'S LOCK OPENED

In One Minute.

New York, September 2, 1864.

F. Tillman, Esq., 318 Battery street, Between Commercial and Clay, San Francisco.

Dear Sir: We notice an advertisement in your daily paper respecting the "Lillie Lock." We are aware that you [illegible] and this lock [illegible] We have [illegible] Lillie's best safe locks, after it had been locked and the combination turned on,

By One Blow of the Hammer

Against the knob on the outside, and thereby breaking the cast iron bolt inside.

The whole time occupied in opening the lock was about ONE MINUTE. We send you this fact that your friends may not be deceived by false representations, etc.

Respectfully, etc.,

A. F. TILTON,
WM. McFARLAND.

NO PRACTICAL

Lock Picker or Thimble Rigger

Required to OPERATE THE SAID LILLIE LOCK.

Any parties desirous of seeing the above mentioned lock, the security and easy mode of opening the same, can call at 318 Battery Street, San Francisco.

Gloucester, March 26, 1864.

Messrs. Tilton & McFarland, Safe Manufacturers, Boston, Mass.

Gentlemen: From representations made by Mr. Libby, I was induced to purchase of him one of his

So Called "Fire Proof Safes."

On the 18th of February last, a fire occurred in our block which destroyed a number of buildings, and our own with the rest. We [illegible] our books, papers and all in the safe. After the fire the so-called "safe" was taken from the ruins, and on opening it we found that Everything had been Destroyed.

We send you the safe, with what is left of the papers, and you will see that not one of them is legible or strong enough to sustain its own weight. Having the curiosity to know how our neighbors fared in this fire, we noticed McKenny & Hardy just opening their safe. TILTON & McFARLAND'S make, and its contents were found to be

In Perfect Condition.

This led us to further investigation, and we found to our astonishment that from the large amount of combustible material in Messrs. McK. & H.'s cellar—such as lard, pork, etc.—their safe was subjected to a much greater heat than that of our own, we being in the clothing business and had but little in the cellar. There was another of Lillie's safes here subjected to the same fire faring, however, no better than ours.

Very respectfully,

Your obedient servants,

(Signed), GEO. L. CHESBORO & CO.

TILTON & M'FARLAND'S SAFE,

The Only Protection

Against Fire and Burglars.

For the last Fifteen Years

This Safe has been well known in California and the Eastern States. They have resisted all the fires on the Pacific Coast, and we can point with satisfaction to the record that

"CONSTITUTION WATER,"

THE ONLY REMEDY FOR DISEASES OF THE

BLADDER, KIDNEYS,

Gravel, Dropsical Swellings,

GENITAL DEBILITY, ETC.

The astonishing success which has attended this invaluable medicine renders it the most valuable one ever discovered. No language can convey an adequate idea of the immediate and almost miraculous change which it occasions in the debilitated and shattered system. In fact, it stands unrivalled as a remedy for the permanent cure of the maladies above-mentioned, and also—

DIABETES, IMPOTENCY,
LOSS OF MUSCULAR ENERGY,
PHYSICAL PROSTRATION,
INDIGESTION,
SEMINAL WEAKNESS,
GLEET, FLUOR ALBUS,

And in every disease in any way connected with the disorder or decay of the Procreative Functions. Persons about to marry, if conscious of any weakness, should take the

CONSTITUTION WATER,

Whether broken down by excess, weak by nature, or impaired by sickness, the unstrung and relaxed organization is at once rebraced, revivified and built up. Well may this celebrated medicine be called the

MEDICAL WONDER.

The stooping trembling victim of depression and debility becomes a new man; he stands erect, he moves with a firm step; his mind, which was previously sunk of gloom of an almost idiotic apathy, becomes bright and active; and he goes forth regenerated, conscious of new vigor.—The medicine reaches the CONSTITUTION itself, and restores it to its normal condition.

IRRITATION OF THE NECK OF THE BLADDER,
INFLAMMATION OF THE KIDNEYS, AND CATARRH OF THE BLADDER,
STRANGUARY AND BURNING, OR PAINFUL URINATING,
CALCULUS, GRAVEL,
BRICK DUST DEPOSIT, AND MUCOUS OR MILKY DISCHARGES AFTER URINATING.

For these diseases it is truly a sovereign remedy, and too much cannot be said in its praise. A single dose has been known to relieve the most urgent symptoms. TRY IT in these cases, and you will ever give praise to

CONSTITUTION WATER.

Males or Females,

Are you troubled with that distressing pain in the small of the back, and through your hips? CONSTITUTION WATER will relieve you like magic.

ALLEN'S

LUNG BALSAM!

The Remedy for Curing

CONSUMPTION, COUGHS, COLDS,

Asthma, Croup,

Diseases of the Throat, Bronchitis, Pains and Oppression of the Chest and Lungs, Difficult Breathing and all the Diseases of the Pulmonary Organs.

Its action is expectorant, alterative, sudorific, sedative, diaphoretic and diuretic, which renders it one of the most valuable remedies known for curing diseases of the lungs. It excites expectoration, and causes the lungs to throw off the phlegm or mucus; CHANGES THE SECRETIONS AND PURIFIES THE BLOOD; heals the irritated parts, gives strength to the digestive organs, brings the liver to its proper action, and imparts strength to the whole system. Such is the immediate and satisfactory effect, that it is WARRANTED TO BREAK UP THE MOST DISTRESSING COUGH IN A FEW HOURS' TIME, if not of too long standing. IT IS WARRANTED to give entire satisfaction even in the MOST CONFIRMED CASES OF CONSUMPTION. IT IS WARRANTED NOT to produce costiveness (which is the case with most remedies), or affect the head, as it contains no opium in any form. IT IS WARRANTED TO BE PERFECTLY HARMLESS to the most delicate child, although it is an active and powerful remedy for restoring the system. THERE IS NO REAL NECESSITY FOR SO MANY DEATHS BY CONSUMPTION, when ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM will prevent it, if only taken in time.

Sold by all Druggists. Price $1 per bottle.
